HONGKONG, NOVEMBER 9TH, 1911.

WE reproduced yesterday from a London paper a translation of a proclamation which Dr. SUN YAT SEN had drawn up to be issued in China when the revolutionary Army came into existence. This document explains how the country is to be governed revealing a mastery of illusion and legerdemain, Imperial appointment to proceed to the in the event of the entire success of the and accomplishing various feats with a precision revolutionary coup, and this is a question on which enlightenment is much required. We are not aware that this proclamation has yet been promulgated in China, and the vague generalities about a Chinese Republic which other proclamations have contained have left spectators of the struggle in doubt as to whether the leaders had really considered what is to happen when, and if, they succeed in overwholming the present government and driving the Manchus out of China. This-form-of-proclamation, which a friend of Sun Yar Sen's has caused to be published in London, does in fact show that some more or less practical scheme for the future government of the country has been discussed and formulated by the leaders of the movement. They realise that a sudden transformation of China into a full-blown Republic is impracticable, and their intention | though the then acting assistant Judge. Mr. is that a Republican Government shall be on popular suffrage. For the accomplishment of this task a period of six years is set, and at the end of that time the Military Government will relinquish its powers, and give place to a constitutional regime. Not antil then will a National Assembly be formed and the people be asked to elect a President of the new Republic. If the general body of the revolutionary leaders have subscribed to such a plan as this, the overthrow of the present government will be than is probably the case at present. But where the Manchus are holding contemplated abroad with greater equanimity there may be much fighting yet to be done Purple Hill. before the rebels obtain control of the capital and are enabled to put their plans for the future government of the country in force. The lack of reliable intelligence as to what is happening in the WE have just unpacked our North had lent some confirmation to NEW SEASON'S the surmise that Very Second transfer to the surmise that Very Second transfer transfer to the surmise that Very Second transfer t NEW SEASON'S the surmise that YUAN SHIH KAI had gone over to the rebels, but General suspension of hostilities with a view to the arrangement of terms for the ending of the still holds out. struggle, but the news we publish this morning entirely dispels that idea. The influence of YUAN SHIH KAT is plainly apparent in the recent edicts which pronounce the doom of the Manchus who have occupied the great offices of State, and the news that the National Assembly, which is representative of the whole of the provinces of the Empire, jendorsed the appointment of Yuan as Premier certainly pointed significantly to some change in the situation, but it is very evident from this morning's news of what is going on at Pekingand the surrounding districts, and also at Nanking, that the end of the struggle has not yet been reached. The latest news from Canton shows that the formal capitulation of the southern capital takes place to-day. With sedition so prevalent among the troops, and revolution spreading in the province, calling for the scattering o troops in many directions, the fall of Canton was rendered inevitable, and it will be matter for congratulation if the new régime is inaugurated in the province without bloodshed and without a greater disturbance of trade than has already been incurred. It looks as though nothing can now save the Empire from being partitioned into a unmber of independent States except the complete success of the revolutionary movement eventuating in the establishment

The Parisian .... ... ... 2 SUPREME COURT.

Wednesday, September 8th.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION. BEFORE HIS HONOUR MR. H. H. J. GOMPERTZ (ACTING CHIEF JUSTICE).

A CLAIM FOR OPIUM. L. Judgment was delivered in the action brought by Wong Sau Sau against the Wing Yu firm to recover $365 damages for breach of contract, defendant having bargained and sold to plaintiff five chests of Patna opium and failed to deliver. There was a cross action for $500.

Hon. Mr H. E. Pollock, K.C., instructed by Mr H. L. Denuys, Jr., appeared for plaintiffs, and the Hon. Mr C. G. Alabaster, instructed by Mr P. W. Goldring, represented the defendants.

His Lordship said: -These are cross actions in respect of the same transactions which were taken together by consent of the parties. As my judgment is based entirely on the facts and no question of law is involved, I can say all that is necessary in a very few words. There is no doubt that the crucial question in the case is whether on July 11 in the opium dealer's market the price of Patna opium was rising or falling. This question must be determined not only by the dir of evidence as to the price, but by the whole conduct of the parties, and, of course, the credibility or otherwise of the evidence. After the most careful consideration of the facts, I have come, not without difficulty, to the conclusion that I cannot accept the case... for the plaintiff. I have grave double whether the alleged sale to the Wing Mi was a genuine transaction. No broker was employed, and the transfer to the Sin Hingseems to me to have merely been a friendly The State and municipal elections held in arrangement. I do not believe that plaintiffs in the first action ever really wanted delivery. The two cases must be looked at together, and though it does not follow that the first claim fails the second succeeds. It undoubtedly assists the Wing Yu when I find as I do that Wong Sau San's claim is not made bona fide. On the whole I am not disposed to say that the plaintiffs in the second action have not made out their case. I believe that the price on or about July 71th was what they say it was. Their contention is supported by the evidence of the broker and transactions in the dealer's market. I must then give judgment for the defendant in the first action and for the plaintiff in the second action, in each case with

UNION CHURCH SALE OF WORK.

The work party established in connection with the Union Church with the object of assisting the various funds when necessary promoted a very pretty little bazaar yesterday afternoon It was held under the veraudah at the entrance to the church, and the stalls laden with useful articles were very attractively set out, while the space between the church and the hall was transformed into a bright tea garden. Members and friends attended in fair numbers during. the afternoon to patronise the stalls, and the articles proved very saleable indeed. The stallholders were: Plain and fancy work stall - Mesdames Hickling, Braidwood, J. Macdonald, McCallum, Weir, Nicol, Scott, J. Stewart, Stevenson, J.

A feature of the afternoon was the very successful production of "Alice in Wonderland" by a company of 20 children, who reflected creditably on the training imparted by Mrs. Stubbings. The scenery and stage effects. which were admirable, were arranged by Messrs Sontar and Grimshaw. The children taking part were: Doreen Tuxford, Bertram Hurle, Henry Reich, Alice Mist, Edwin Edser, Mabel White, Eva K. Hurle, Wallace Fentiman, Oscar-Barrington, Ormand Musso, John Grimshaw, Sydney Johnson, Albert While, Dorothy Harle, George Reich, Bertha Jennings, Lilian and Anna Ogilvie.

A VALUABLE COLLECTION OF CHINESE PORCELAIN.

The collection of old Chinese porcelain -formed-by -Mr.-Richard-Bounett, of Thornby. Hall, Northampton, a Lancashire manufacturer, has been purchased by Sir W. H. Lever for £300,000. The collection was sold on July 8th last, but the name of the purchaser has not until now been divulged. General satisfaction, the Times says, will be felt that this fine collec-tion of percelsin has not, like Mr. Beanett's library of Caxtons and similar treasures, now in the Morgan Library at New York, gone out of the country. He informed the Justices that last year an adjunct licence had been granted to Mr. Uyetsuki in respect of the Sei Foo Row Hotel, Since that date the Tokyo Hotel, which was just across the road, had been built, and the applicant now desired a publican's licence for that hotel. The surction for him were the manager of the Yokohama Specie Bank, the manager of the Tokyo Kisen Kaisha and Mr. Pang On Wing, who was the owner of the premises. The applicant had obtained a letter from persons living in the neighbourhood stating that they had no objection to him having a hotel there. The Japanese living in Hongkong, if he understood aright, expressly desired that a licence should be granted to a Japanese who could provide for their entertainment. SINGAPORE PARA RUBBER ESTATES.

The profits for the year ended June 30, after allowing £500 for depreciation, amounted to £9,203, making, with the balance brought forward, £13,989. The directors propose to pay a dividend of 10 per cent, carrying forward £2.782. The company's property consists of 3,590 acres, of which 1,664 acres are ; lanted in course of being planted. The amount of dry rubber harvested during the period under review amounted to 64 157lb., as against an estimate of 74,000lb. The deficiency was largely due to the long drought, which affected the flow of latex seriously. The average cost of production was 1s. 43d per lb., and the average net price realized was 4s. 10.84d, per lb. The manager estimates the crop for 1911-12 at 120,000lb.

THE REVOLUTION.

PROCLAMATION EXPECTED TO-DAY. Arrangements have been made in Canton for the proclamation to-day of the surrender of the province. A telegram sent by order of a public meeting to the Tung Wah Hospital and the Chinese newspapers in Hongkong states that on Tuesday, in view of the critical condition of the city, a meeting of the leading citizens was convened to discuss the situation, and as rosult it was agreed to send a deput vion to interview the Vicercy to urge that other arrangements were necessary for the protection of the city. (In other words, that the time had come when it is advisable to change the flag) The meeting adjourned till yesterday morning when two representatives of the Viceroy attended-Mr. Wu Ming Pon and 'Mr Kong Hung Yan. Mr. Wu addressed the meeting urging that provision must be made for maintaining the troops; that arrangements must also be made for the protection of the Tartars and Manchus in the City; and that measures must be taken for the suppression of the robber bands infesting the province Finally the meeting resolved that pending stones and utilised them for building a fort the Provisional Government of the province. It was further decided to reque t the Tartars and Manchus to send representatives to another meeting to be held to day in the Provincial Assembly Hall when arrangements for their protection will be further considered, and these. when finally adopted, will be presented to the Vicercy and upon His Excellency signifying his approval (which is evidently expected to be at once given), the public will be notified, the flag changed and a salute fired.

THE FALL OF SHANGHAI.

The following account of the fall of Shanghai is taken from the N.C. Duily News of the LETTER TO THE BRITISH CONSUL. The following is a rough translation of the letter addressed yesterday by the revolutionary party to the British Consul General, before the taking over of the native city and Kiangnan dock-yard.

The Military Government of the Chinere People. Night Moon of the 4609th year of the Huang-ti period.

To H. B. M. CONSUL. SIR.—Our country has long suffered under despotic rule, until now she has been forced to patriotic action. Since the first rising, all Provinces. North and South, have lent their aid, and a series of brilliant successes has resulted. Shanghai is a great centre of international trade, and the residents and visitors here congregated, foreign and Chinese, make population of several hundred thousands, to whom have been added recently immigrants from all provinces. Seeing the critical financial situation and the preveiling anxiety, our Government, after the most anxious thought and in view of the existing danger of frouble arising. has decided to assume charge of Shanghai and ourselves secure good order, and so restore conl fidence among the commercial population. The Settlement, however, is of large extent, and we fear that we cannot meet all requirements, so that while we shall exercise all endeavours to afford protection, we also trust that you will set forth extra guards of police so as to guarantee the situation and prevent the beginnings of ossible disorder. This we carnestly commend to your favour able consideration.

The affair was soon over, the foreigners left for the Settlement, and the gates were closed, not to be re-opened that night.

THE CITIZEN SOLDIERY. Meantime the approaches to the Arseval were in the hands of members of the Citizen Soldiery. They established their headquarters in a sort of recreation ground about a mile from Arsenal, and, when carriages arrived, these were stopped by a picquot with fixed bayonets. These volunteers could to a great extent speak English, they advised the occupant not proceed farther, but if they did they would do so at their own risk. Up to about eight o'clock the roads leading from this point to the Arsenal were patrolled by these men, and squads could even be seen carrying arms, but having no uniform, although distinguished by the white revolutionary band round their arms. At all the various places flags were heisted, and while they were not the orthodox revolutionary flag, the volunteers themselves stated that they had an equal signification. They were red with one corner white, and emblazoned on this latter background was the starred circlet, as on the purely white flag of the revolutionaries else-

A proclamation was posted on the walls at the instance of the revolutionaries, calling upon the people to maintain a peaceful attitude.

. IN THE CITY. Wanting as the affair at the Arsenal had been in those exciting episodes which have usually marked so drastic a change of regime, the occurrences in City were infinitely less striking, in fact it might almost have been open to question whether the revolutionaries had actual possession of it. Nothing of note occurred there to start with, there was no startling change from Imperialist to revolutionist, but more in the nature of a of the city, until one might almost say that the whole place was under the influence of the revolutionists. The Taotai was in the Bureau City Magistrate remained in his yamen in the city, which was as usual guarded by a numwere not long in fraternizing, and it is not certain that some of the Magistrato's troops was made. All the same, the City is who must thus have scored the most bloodless of successes. Later in the evening a band of about 200 men could be seen marching on the probably to join their comrades inside. About half past jou o'clock a fire was observed to have broken out in the city, and on inquiry t was learned that it was the Taotai's yamun who denied that it was so, stating that it was a house next door. Eve witnesses, however, stated that it was actually the yamen and that it had been fired by the revolutionaries. Firemen were at hand, and the blaze was not allowed to As a precautionary measure morines armed with fixed bayonets were posted at the approaches to the French Concession. A REBEL AT THE STATION.

At seven o'clock last night the rumour was spread in the Settlement that the Shanghai-Nanking Station and telegraphs had been taken control of by rebels. A visit to the Shanghai Railway Station at 9.30 p.m. gave immediate contradiction to this Mr Fash's Marbles (Mr Anderson) rumour, as at that hour t'e Station was being patrolled by European and Sikh police, under the command of Capt. Hilton Johnson, and perfect order was being maintained. were few passengers wi-hing to book, and outside the Station compound there were innumerable Chinese speciators awaiting developments; but within the compound the presence of seventy European and Sikh policemen was well able to keep order and the platforms of the station were practically deserted. It was reported that early in the evening-shortly after seven o'clock-a Chinese wearing a white hand on his arm entered the booking hall and, presenting an automatic pistol, attempted to hold up the station. Very wisely, the railway employees ignored his domands and threats, and business continued as usual until the arrival of the Municipal Police, who had been summoned meanwhile.

S.V.C. ARTILLEBY. The Artillery fell in at their headquarters, the Gunsbed, at about 4 p.m. and harnessed up their teams. Gun and small arm ammunition was served out and the men stood by till 6.30 p.m. At that hour the guns were parked in the Municipal Compound and the popies bedded down in the Gurshed. Sentries were posted, and, at the time we went to press, the whole unit was standing by in case of eventualities.

The other units of the S. V. C. were also warned to be ready. MUTINY IN CHAPEL.

An incident occurred in Singapore a few years ago which bours upon the present rising in China. It concerns Kung Yu Wai, who was for some time the late Emperor's advisor, and Sun Yat. Son, the present revolutionary leader. Towards the end of 1901 Kang Yu Wei, whise conduct had induced the Chinese Government to offer $180,000 for his head, made his appearance in Singapore, and was detained by Sir Alexander wettenham, the Colonial Secretary. Shortly af erwards three Japanese arrived and asked for an interview with Kang Yu Wei, and the Colonial Secretary had them arrested. Two of them were of the swashbuckler class, and the third was a schoolmaster. They were examined, and it was ascertained that the schoolmaster taught in Chinese schools and acted as a sort of agent for Japanese (capitalists: "There are," he said, "a quantity of us in China." The men. were asked what they came to Singapore for. but they lied hard, and it was determined to banish them. They had a large sum of money, which was taken from them. A vessel was leaving on the following day (Sunday), and it was decided to place them on board this ship. On the Sunday Sir Alexander Swettenham received information that Sun Yat Sen had turned up in Singapore; he was travelling as a Japanese, and wanted to see Kang Yu Wei.

Sun Yat Son stated that since his adventure in London, where he was kidnapped and detained at the Chinese Le ation, he had been in Japan. He was asked whether he was not afraid to travel in China, His roply was, "No. I have learned the Japanese language, and I pass as a perfect Japanese." He certainly did make an excellent Japanese. When asked why he wanted to see Kang Yu Wei, he replied that gradu I merging. In the course of the evening | he was at the head of a revolutionary movement white bands became more frequent in the streets | in China, and that his party was strong, though not nearly so strong as Kang Yu Wei's party. His wish was to combine with Kang Yu Wei's party. If they could join forces, he added, they of Foreign Affairs in the Settlement, but the would be irresistible, and would succeed, as he had plenty of money. Sun Yat Sen explained that the coalowners of Japan, who devoted a ber of soldiers. He was told that the Government could not did not show the white band themselves. allow plots to be hatched at Singapore. No change in the status of any of the officials and was refused permission to see Kang Yo Wei. Then Sun Yat Sen said: in the hands of the revolutionists, __ You have arrested three of my men, and you have got a lot of my money from thom." The Colonial Secretary thereupon threatened to banish him, and advised him that, as his mission City, all wearing the white band, and going had failed, he had better leave Singapore by the steamer which was to sail that day, and which-would also-probably carry-Sen's three men, to whom would be returned the money. which had been taken from them. THE NEW USHANT L'GHT. A BLESSING TO MARINERS,

The new lighthouse of La Jument, Ouessan (Urbant), is the result of seven years incersant labour in the face of immense difficulties, and will contiless be of the greatest assistance to mariners navigating those dangerous waters. On the 22nd of March, 1904, M. Charles Eugène Poteron, a member of the Geographical Society of Paris, left a legacy of £15,000 to be devoted to the construction of a lighthouse on the Western Coast of France. In the autumn of the same year the site was fixed, the rock of La Jument, off the extreme southern point of Ushant, being selected. A detailed account of the structure recently appeared in a French newspaper. The granite tower, which is of immense strength, has foundations 20 feet deep in the solid rock, and the lantern is some 107 feet above the sea level. The building, with its complete equipment, has cost in all some £31,000 It being found impossible to use electricity, an improved petrol apparatus has been installed. and the light will be visible at a distance of at least 20 miles during half the year. It is a red light, and will flash three times in rather less than a second for each flash, and will be obscuredthree times unequally; the lirst two eclipses being of 2,42 seconds and the third of 8.42 seconds, the whole signal lasting 15 seconds. In foggy weather the powerful siren will omit three sounds of 13 seconds, separated, the 1wo first by an interval of the same duration, the last by a pause of 521 seconds, so as to give the whole signal in one minute. THE ISLAND OF USHANT. The Island of Ushant, or Ouessant, is 43 miles long east and west, about two miles wide, and its highest part towards the north-east is 187ft, above the sea. In fine weather the island is visible at fifteen to twenty miles distance, the outline appearing rugged, uneven, and the coast being composed of precipitons rocky cliffs of gravite formation, decreasing in beight gradually towards its south-west end, where it is but little above high-water and bordered by rooks. It is surrounded by dangers which extend upwards of a mile from the north coast, nearly two-thirds of a mile from the eastern end, half a mile from the southern coast, and 13 mile from the south-west end of island, but it has three small bays, in which vessels find only temporary shelter. The inhabitants, about 2,500 in number, are chiefly employed in senfaring and as fishermen; many of the latter are well acquainted with, and can act as pilets for, the passages in the neighbourhood.

There are two lighthouses, one on the north-east part, the other on the northwest. Aspyramidical beacon is erected on Runion Point, the south-west extreme of the island. The new light of La Jument is on a rock rather more than a mile south-west of this point and some 21 miles due south of that on Creach Point, which is entirely obscured from the south by low undulations. It will be the only Ushant light entirely visible from due south, the lighthouse on the north east point being 41 miles away from La Jument, and partially obscured from the south.

A DINGEROUS COAST. The new lighthouse, which is lut an instalment of a very complete system of lights and beacons for the navigation of the Channel between Ushant and the mainland will therefore be a most useful guide to vessels coming up from the south. These are frequently affected by the very strong inset from the westward, which is especially prevalent after westerly and south-westerly gales, and find themselves far to the esstward of their true course. The ill- R. Brock ... fated Drummond Castle would probably not have been lost had the lighthouse on La Jument been completed some fifteen years earlier.

The Sailing Directions recommend that in forgy weather a wide berth should be given to E. I.M. Barrett ... Ushant, that the lead should be kept constantly A. C. Crighton ... going, speed moderate, and depths maintained exceeding 60 fathoms, allowing for rise of tide, W. Brand which near Ushant, during spring, is over three fathoms. Soundings taken in 1892 by the French Government show that the bottom for many miles round the island is so generally level, with numerous irregularities, as entirely to prevent any estimate of distance from land leing formed in thick weather by the lead alone. But a vessel will pass clear, if she is kept in FROM 18T JANUARY, 1864 TO 31ST DECEMBER But a vessel will pass clear, if she is kept in depths as stated above. The usual set near.

cosst provides excellent lights, the Ile de Vierge, Sept Iles, Rochers de Douvres, Hanois (on the ceast of Guernaey), and the powerful (askets light forming a complete chain. As Ushent is the first light eighted by homewardbound vessels after leaving the Spanish coast, so, of course, is it the last of the Channel lights which vessels have behind them as they head into the Bay of Bircay. Mr. Budyard Kipling wro e in his "Anchor Song":

Will, ah fare you well, and it's Ushant slams the door on us. Whirling like a windmill through the dirty scud to les.

Till the last flicker goes From the tumbling water-rows. And we're off to Mother Carey (Walk her down to Mother Carey!) Ob, we're bound for Mother Carey where she feeds ber chicks at sea!

SHIPPING WAR IN CALCUTTA COMPRETITION BETWEEN BRITISH LINES AND THE N.Y.K.

As a result of the fact that the Nippon Yusen Kaisha have started a service between Calcutta and Japan, calling at Rangoon and Singapore, the British India and Asiatio Navigation Companies at Calcutta have issued a circular to their customers offering a fifty per cent-rebate on the old-rates-from Rangoon and-Calcutta, says a telegram to the Times of Coulon. The agents of the Nippon Yuson Kaisha say they are indifferent as to what the other companies do. They intend taking an independent line undisturbed by any threat of freight war. It may be recalled that in 1895, when the N.Y K commenced their service from Bombay to Japan carrying cotton, the P. and O Company and the other Conference lines promptly reduced the freight rate for cotton from R20 and over to R2. Despi e this formidable opposition, however, the service still continued to run. The notification of the rebate of 50 per cent on the rates to Rangoou by British India and the Asiatic Steam Navigation / ompanies was given in a circular, dated Calcutta, the 12th instant, addressed to all shippers to Rangoon under contract with these two companies. The circular stated :- "We hereby notify that, if the steamer Jinsen Maru proceeds hence to Rangoon this month on her way to Japan, the amove companies will grant all their contract shippers (who can prove to us that neither directly mor indirectly are they interested in seiling goods in Calcutta for shipment or themselves shipping any cargo by the above-named, steamer to Rangoon) a return of 50 per cent, of the freights paid on shipments by the steamers of either company which sail for Kangoon - one on the same day or just preceding, and one immediately fol lowing the Jinsen Maru's departure. If this steamer proceeds to Rangoon the foregoing return freights will be paid as soon as possible after her export manifest has been published and scrutinised. The existing freight contracts are binding, and if broken forthwith debar shippers from participating in the contract rates by subsequent steamers, and the object in the foregoing concession to the companies' supporters is to avoid their being put on unequal terms with would-be competitors.

The circular was followed by one issued on the part of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, by Messrs. Andrew Yulo & Co., the agents, and addressed to all Calcutta shippers to Raugoon. This circular stated:—

- "We hereby notify that the steamer Jinsen Maru will sail hence for Rangoon on her way to Japan on or about the 21st instant. It is with satisfaction that we announce this, as a recent communication by the British India and Asiatic Steam Navigation Companies to all shippers to Rangoon advises that, contingent on the Jinsen Maru steamer proceeding to Rangoon, they will grant a return of 50 per cent, of the freights paid on shipments by their two steamers sailing for Rangoon about the same time. The Nippon Yusen Kaishasteamers have come to assist and promote the trade of Bengal with the Far East. Calcutta has too long been handicapped by the existence of a monopoly, inimical to the interests of the Port. All shippers to Rangoon will recognise that the concession of 50 per cent. off their freight bills is the immediate result of the arrival in Calcutta to-day of the Jinsen Maru steamer, the first steamer of the regular service of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha between Calcutta, Burma, the Straits Settlements, China, and Japan,"

LONDON SCHOOL OF TROPICAL MELICINE.

GREENWICH NAVAL MEDICAL SCHOOL. The annual dinner of the London School of Tropical Medicine was held on the 17th ult at Princes Restaurant, Picadilly, Dr. M. Cameron Blair, Senior Sanitary Officer, Nor-Nigeria, was in the chair, and those present included Surgeon-General Sir. A. M. Branfoot, C.I.E. President of the Medical Board of the India Office; Sir Patrick Manson, Professor W. J. Simpson, C.M.G. Liebtenaut-Colonel A Alcock, C.I.E., Captain A. W. Clarke C. G. Rawling, C.I.E., Dr. Rice, and Mr. P. Michelli, C.M G., secretary to the school.

The loyal toasts having been duly honoured, Surgeon General Branfoot proposed "The London of School Tropical Medicine," and recalled that its establishment in 1899 was due to the initiative of Mr. Chamberlain, who was Secretary of State for the Colonies at the time, and whose withdrawa! from active public life they all deplored. (Cheers.) The school, which had made steady progress since that time, and through which over 1,200 students had passed, had been of particular service to the members of the Indian and Colonial Services and the Royal Navy. Its success had been due to hard work and zeal, and the results which had been achieved had been due, in a large degree, if not entirely, to the efforts of Sir Patrick Manson. (Cheers.)

The Chairman, in acknowledging the toast, said the extensions of premises in recent years at the School of Tropical Medicine we e an indication of increasing demands and of readiness to meet them. But, in spite of these extensions, much yet remained to be done, when the necessary money was forthcoming. More and more students in all parts of the world were coming to regard the London School of Tropical Medicine as their educational Mecca. (Cheers.) Sir Patrick Marson, who was received with cheers, referred to the extension of the school's laboratories, which, he said, had been of enormous advantage, not only to the students, but to the teachers. In order to provide these laboratories they had put rather a strain on their funds and had had to diminish the amount of that residential accommodation which was such a distinctive feature of the school. It had been a subject of discussion amongst those responsible for the management of the school whether an effort should not be made once more to increase this particular accommodation. The committee had decided that a school journal should be issued each session. Sir J. Porter, in responding to the teast of 'The Gueste," proposed by Captain A. W Clarke, mentioned that progress was being made with the medical wing of the Naval University at Greenwich. The wheels of Government, he said, moved very slowly, but he had ascertained that the laboratories and other buildings which were required for present purposes would be completed by December 31. Shortly after that they would have tomake a beginning with the school. They would | * Tin T'sun Pin Ko-Apples, C'foo .. begin in an exceedingly small way, as the Treasury wished to be certain that they were starting what he had no doubt would prove to Shows the dates of departure of the Mails be a concern that would pay the country over and over again. They were beginning with pathology- and for the rest of their teaching they would look largely to the Dreadnenght and the Tropical School of Medicine. He saw in this naval medical school an undertaking which was bound greatly to enhance the prestige of the Service, and he hoped that, as it developed, they would have a large body of men thoroughly versed in tropical medicine and not undistinguished disciples of their great master, Sir Patrick Mansion. # THE ORIENT IN LONDON.

BY JOHN FOSTER FRASER,

The other night there tripped through the dining-room of one of our big hogels a tali, slim, simuous woman clad tightly in black, and a gentle tinkle went with her-a tinkle that just missed being a jangle. She was wearing golden anklets above her left foot, and as she radenced along the tinkle called eyes to the feet -and she knew that her feet were next, Indiana, in the East, where anklets are common, I have never seen so dainty a foot.

Now the woman was wearing those ankle ornaments because just now London has a little the China Sea, but it will moderate along the craze in favour of the Orient. And I am going coast. to say that the Orient in London is really a prettier thing than the ral thing. It is what we believe the Orient ought to be, and that is more captivating and poetical and sensuous than the Orient actually is At present the fashion is towards lithe grace falness; no doubt our lady friends were just as lithe and graceful the year before last as they are to-day, but my recollection does not carry me so far. Anyway, I have a fondness for smoking a cigar beneath the trees in the Park or taking notice of shapely women-swelte, ] think, is the novelist's word-stepping by in black garments that fit the figure close, as South coast of China between Same as No. 1. though they were improved designs from frescoes in ancient Egyptian palaces. The coiffure, the headdress, inclines to give a pointed Semitio touch to the countenance. Jewellery, though limited, is berbarle in 1516.

Yes. the Orient has come to London. In a way it has been with us for long, and I have heard that Japanese kimonos are in much demand as dressing-gowns among at ladies. Pretty kimonos of radiant colours are worn by quite nice English girls at fancy-dress balls. What the nice English girls do not know is that no really nice Japanese girl-no girl the English g mother would care she should be friendly wit wears a flaming-hued kimono. Yet the of kimone worn by English girls and giggli geisha girls is much prettier than the staid which well-born Japanese ladies invariably w

... The present Orientalisation of London cor from the Near East-east of Suez. Hol skirts and Miss Maud Allan, quaint juxtaxt tion, are somewhat manounsible. Hobble sk have shown that Englishwomen have ruying figures, and Miss Allan has given a dance wh is new to London, but as old as Pharach Africa. The glide, the posture, the dres and then the passionate movements, the riv of the arms, are very much the same as the da of the Onled Nall girls on the Sahara.

have got a little rensuous, and the poetry motion is now much more to our liking t the acrobatism of the frisky damsel who can be off a silk hat with her heel. Eastern dancing—and Russian dancing Tartan rather than European-is the re Favourites from the harem of the poor old posed Sultan, Abdul Hamid, have gyrated fore us -and there is never any such delig in Turkey. Famous Persian dancers h charmed thousands. But there is nothing ! it in Persia. Persian dancing is a gawky be some performance, and Persian women do dance in public. Any way, there is more gra in these Oriental dances as given in Lond than there is in the lands from which the dan We are enchanted with dazzling perf mances, "A Night with the Sultan" and "T Queen of the Harem," and mystic pantomi plays like "Sumuran." They are romant Large and liquid kohl-edged eves peeping or veils are seductive. As you lounge in yo stall after dinner, and there is a rhapsody Oriental colouring, and as attractive girls, disphanous trousers and half veiled, gl languorously across the stage, you feel th come day you will go travelling and allow you self to bask in desert sunshine, or recli on rich carpets beneath soft lamps a see the bronze-skinned women of the Ea softly skip the hours away. You had bett not. The dancing women of the Orient inclined to stoutness, and they have thick ankles, and their dancing is monotonous.

At the Garrick Theatre is a wonderful play, Kismet "-though the Arabic scroll which advertises the play does not mean Kismet, but something else which is funny. As a type of heit. Eastern character, "Kismet" is a poor thing: but the mounting the pictures of Oriental life, are the most astonishing ever put upon the stage. Everything is there except the smell of the East. The mosque is like a real mosque; cloud, d drizzling ram, f fog, g gloomy, h hail, I the coming of the morning and the tinting lightning e overcast, p passing showers, q squally, r of the sky recall times when I saw the rain, s snow, t thunder, v visibility, w dew (wet) the East. The mesque is like a real morque; morn creeping over the African world. There is a market scene, and the hubbub of the hucksters is absolutely correct, and I could imagine I was back again in the bazaars of Kairouan, which the author probably had in his mind. But what part of the Orient does "Kismet" represent? That is a thing which worried me. for I have jogged and vagabonded in the East. Here is a costume which is Algerian, another is inst, at 9 a.m., and may be expected here on or Tunisian, another suggests Persia, others Egypt, others Arabia. The scene is supposed to The E. & A. etr. Eastern left Sydney on the | be laid in Arabia, and the author says he spent 1st inst. for this port (via Queensland Ports, two years in Tunisia getting correct local colour. How we would smile if we saw an English play The N.Y.K. str. Nikko Maru (Australian presented in Japan, and the author made it a Line) left Sydney for this port via ports on the point that he had spent two years in Italy, so that he might correctly show English life! As a composite picture, however, of what the Orient looks like, I never imagined the atmosphere of a The C.P.R. Co,'s str. Empress of Jopan left Moslem land could have been so genuinely trans-

I wonder how far the Londoner's present love of the Orient is going to carry him-or her? Only a month or two ago there was talk about the general adoption of the harem skirt-a sweet and dainty costume provided the wearer is sweet and dainty also. It is not a garb belitting the bulbons female. Daring damsels appeared in the streets, shocked dames, and got the cheers The Indo-China str. Laisang left Calcutta of small boys. Is the furtive pencilling of eyebrows to be replaced by kohl-daubed eyes and the brows crescented like the young moon? Instead of a delicate pink polish to the finger nails, are they to be stained saffron with henns? When I think of the ledy with the tinkling left singapore for this port on the 2nd inst., golden anklets. I imagine no end of possibilities in London's craze for the Orient.-Pall Mall

DEARER DRUGS. Recently there has become noticeable in the prices, which becomes more and more pronounced each day, says a London paper. The advance in for Hongkong, and is due here on the 14th value is due to a variety of causes, and in most instances there seems little probability of any decline in the near future. Opium is double its normal value, and, as the medicinal variety comes mainly from Smyrna, it is not unlikely that the Italo-Turkish War may drive prices still higher. Sugar of milk, which is used very largely for infants, has advanced fully 25 per cent. Santonine, the principal juggedient of "worm tablets," is much dearer, and, in fact, twelve times the price il could be bought for at one time. Cocaine is considerably dearer. Carbolic acid is advancing in value, and camomiles, golden seal, valerian, and many other ropular drugs are desrer to buy. The wholesale price of preserved ginger, which is in great demand at this time of the year, has also gone up owing to the scarcity of the root in (mly fully prepaid letters and post cards are transmissible by the SIBERIAN Boute to EUROPE.

POST OFFICE NOTICE

The attention of the public is drawn to page 10, para 20, of the Hongkong Postal Guide for 1911. Stamps intended for Postage preposes may be perforated but not obliterated.

Until further Notice Parcels for the undermentioned places-in China will not be accepted for transmission through the post:-Hupeh, Szechuen, Kueichow and Hunan.

The Delter, with the English Mail, left Singapore on Saturday, the 4th inst., at 5 p.m., and may be expected here to-day, at 5 p.m. This packet brings the parcel mails closed in London for despatch by the all sea route on the 4th October, and for despatch overland on the 10th October.

The Public are informed that the Christmas and New Year Parcel Mail to the United Kingdom and the Continent of Europe by the long sea route via Gibraltar will be closed in this Office on Friday, the 10th instant, at 5 P.M. This Parcel Mail is due in London on or about the 16th of December. The subsequent Parcel Mail is not due to reach London before the 30th of December. Parcels may be forwarded via Brindisi with an extra foe of 60 cents.

Parcels containing any article of Gold or Silver or Silver Mounted Goods must be insured for at least part of their value. All insured parcels must be sealed, all the seals must be of the same kind of wax and must bear distinct impressions of a private device. The device on each seal must be the same.

Regimental Buttons or Badges, Curved, Crossed or Dotted lines are not admissable. Coins must not be used for sealing. The Clerks of the Post Office are not allowed to seal or to affix stamps on letters or parcels for the public. Parcels that in the opinion of the officer accepting the same do not comply with the
